Theatre Review

THE LAST SAFARI, Stewart Granger is cast as an embittered white hunter determined to kill a particular bull Elephant which in turn had killed a friend of Granger's. He is, however, bugged by a rude young American who insists on going with him on the adventure. Filmed in Kenya.

"THE TAMING OF THE SHREW", a comedy by Shakespeare, has had audiences laughing for almost 400 years. The shrew is evil-tempered Katharina. In the motion picture version, Elizabeth Taylor is the shrew. And the man who tames her, Petruchio, is played by Richard Burton.

ULYSSES. By resourceful film techniques at some points plus a willingness merely to illustrate voice over passages at others. Director Joseph Strick and an excellent cast have rendered James Joyce's great novel in absorbing cinematic terms.

WATERHOLE NO. 3. Deft direction and good performances keep this Western spoof from farcical excesses while making the most of absurd and occasional ribald adventures.

FESTIVAL. Murray Lerner has assembled an engrossing chronicle of four years at the Newport Folk Festival. Singers from Joan Baez, Peter, Paul and Mary, from Bob Dylan to Buffy Sainte-Marie. There's a great deal of music but also interviews.

THE BIBLE. Director John Huston has spent 18 million while filming the first 22 chapters of Genesis in epic terms. The tedious results will have little appeal to those who do not accept fundamental teachings. The final sequences of Abraham show some value, however.

VALLEY OF THE DOLLS for more than a year has been the talk of the country. Frank and fascinating contemporary entertainment has come to screen life. 20th Century Fox is releasing this panavision de luxe color adaptation. Barbara Parkins of Peyton Place and the well-bred New Englander arrive in New York with bright-eyed innocence. Patty Duke, Sharon Tate and Susan Hayward are in the cast. Also starring are four handsome leading men who provide the romantic interest. Essentially the story focuses on four women caught up in the heady world of show business and follows their lives as the tensions and disappointments increase and some of them turn to pills and stimulants for "escape."

WAIT UNTIL DARK. A suspenseful thriller in which a blind girl, trapped by thugs who try to make her reveal the whereabouts of a cache of heroin, outwits her torturers.

Review THE CHRISTMAS ORATORIO

by Rachel Morton
Former music critic Long Beach Independent-Press Telegram

It would have been well worth the price of admission just to hear the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society sing the beautiful chorales of Bach's "Christmas Oratorio."

Presented with the Monterey County Symphony Chamber Orchestra under the very able direction of Jan de Jong, conductor, in the Sunset Theatre Sunday night, they made a striking appearance in their red Christmas robes. They sang with splendid balance of tone and with nice inflection as the mood of the music demanded, and believe me, these Carmel choristers know their Bach!

There were other musical highlights as well and a goodly sized audience expressed its pleasure in warm applause before intermission and at the close.

The chamber orchestra, although small in number was large in effect when occasion demanded. Particularly fine was the playing of the grand finale, "Now Vengeance Has Been Taken." Also to be noted was the lovely obbligato to the trio with soprano, alto and tenor, as played by the concertmaster, Michael Rosenker.

Bach's difficult music is

more adapted to instrumental performance than vocal, and it requires performers with expert musicianship as well as vocal fluency.

These requirements were happily met in the four soloists. Leona Gordon's soprano voice seemed much more suited to Bach than to the operatic excerpts heard recently. In the duet with the bass, Marvin Kleeber, her crystalline tone was pure and expertly produced. It blended well with the warm, rich color of basso Kleeber's beautiful voice.

Marvin Kleeber has everything: moving quality in his singing and sure musicianship. Also, he understands Bach.

Patrick Dougherty sang with fervor in many recitatives. His high tenor voice, almost a countertenor, took the vocal hurdles easily.

The singer who seemed most conversant with the score was the contralto, Arlene White. She sang the big aria, "Prepare Thyself Zion" with never a glance at the music. Her voice, although a true contralto, seemed to lack a sympathetic quality.

Conductor de Jong held his forces well in hand at all times and often inspired with imparted sensitivity.

Happy Christmas

May all the joys of the season be yours in great abundance!

Home for Christmas

Christmas has brought a number of Carmelites home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bruggeman's son, Fred, and his new bride Pamela visited their mother and dad last week. It was the first time Mrs. Bruggeman had seen her new daughter-in-law.

Mr. James Moore came home from his work in the South Pacific on our ballistic missile system.

Mr. Donald Teague just recently returned from his travels in Spain and his wife Verna from Mexico. Their daughters Linda and Hilary just returned from travels in Greece and the islands.

Chips Wood, a Carmel High School 1960 graduate, is spending the Christmas holidays with his grandmother, Mrs. John W. Sherwood. Chips is now an ensign in the U.S. Navy and is serving as a deep sea diver in the Salvage Corps. Before entering the Navy Chips received his master's degree at Wharton School of Business in Philadelphia. He is on leave from Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. in Akron, Ohio.

Another 1960 Carmel High School graduate who made it home in time for Christmas is Toby Edson. After completing his 2 years service as an officer in the U.S. Navy, Toby set out on a 15-month adventure around the world. Australia, then New Zealand were his first destinations. From there he went to Europe and bought an Austin van to drive and sleep in. He visited every country in Europe except Ireland, putting 34,000 miles on the car.

Toby concentrated mostly on the non-tourist countries. Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and spent 33 days in the Soviet Union. He had several brushes with the Soviet police. Living on 40 cents a day, his main diet was potatoes and olive oil and he lost about 20 pounds. Toby returned home on a boat via the Panama Canal and gained most of his lost weight back due to the excellent meals aboard ship. Toby is planning on entering the Institute of Foreign Studies here to work toward his doctorate.

Major van Loben Sels Here

Major James W. van Loben Sels, grandson of James F. van Loben Sels of Carmel, and his wife and three children have been visiting Carmel for the past 10 days. They have been staying in the guest house belonging to his father, James van Loben Sels of San Francisco, who was down recently to celebrate the birthday of Mrs. W. E. van Loben Sels.

Major van Loben Sels stated that "the Vietnamese combat engineers, if given the same training and equipment that American troops have, would operate in the field as effectively as Americans."

He has spent the last year as the American chief adviser to the commanding officer of an engineering battalion of the South Vietnamese army in the Mekong Delta operations. He is a graduate of West Point, 1959, and studied for two years at the Air Force Institute of Technology where he was awarded a master's degree in space physics.

He and his family left yesterday for Philadelphia to spend the holidays with her parents. Then they will move to Fort Belvoir, Virginia where he will complete a nine-month course in space engineering.

Referendum
Petition
Possible

At the outset of the City Council meeting Monday night Councilman Gunnar Norberg, principal objector to the rezoning of Sunset Center on the grounds that the ordinance will create commercial establishments there, suggested that a referendum petition will be circulated against the rezoning ordinance.

In the waning moments of the Council meeting that evening, Mr. Norberg's fellow councilmen rejected his motion to add that the ordinance must not interfere with the North playground as according to the master plan. With no second to this addition to the ordinance, he moved it be referred back to the planning commission for further study. This also failed for lack of a second.

His fellow councilmen explained that the ordinance dealt with nothing more than the rezoning of Sunset from residential to a cultural and community district, and that paving the playground was not the question at the moment.

Mr. Norberg said today, "It is my impression that a referendum petition will be circulated against this ordinance," which would require something less than 250 names.

Other action of the Council included the granting to Carmel Valley a mutual fire aid agreement; referring the request for a directional sign for Sunset Center to the present traffic advisory committee, and the approval of the hiring of several city employees.

Also at the meeting, Councilman Herbert Blanks reported that the committee studying Street Lighting is working out a plan for lighting Devendorf Park to promote beauty and safety.

Mr. Blanks said he and the committee were shocked at what they saw at the Park. "The usage by the new class of occupants had done the park no good," he said. "The grass and benches have been torn up... the benches carved to a splinter."

Mr. Blanks reported that psychiatrists, clergymen and youth counselors have contacted and tried to work with these people.

Early Childhood

Miss Beverly Van Benhuysen, Early Childhood Education Coordinator at the County Office of Education, spoke recently at the fall meeting of Delta Phi Upsilon at the home of the president, Mrs. Marcia De Voe in Carmel Woods.

She pointed out specific problems in the education of young children such as double sessions, large class sizes and teacher preparation.

MORE ON CABLE TV FRANCHISE

Last week the Carmel City Council listened to over three hours of discussion concerning the ordinance and franchise for cable television in Carmel. Monday evening the council met once again and talked further on the matter, finally approving the franchise so that CATV may now begin negotiations with Pacific Telephone to hang the cable on their poles. There will be no more delay on the part of the city in bringing better television service to Carmel.

During last week's discussion, two experts in electronics from Litton Systems Inc., Lou Erdle and Dr. Peter Besag, offered assistance by meeting with CATV representatives and a City Hall committee to impose more rigid restrictions on television cable reception. Councilman William Sefton recalled that at this meeting nothing was solved before the "Litton boys" had to leave, promising they would contact CATV with a list of proposed changes in the ordinance. Councilman Sefton showed concern that no contact was made before the meeting. The "Litton boys" presented the cable company with 10 proposals just hours before the meeting.

During a break, Dr. Besag, Lou Erdle and CATV representatives met briefly, only to find that at least one recommendation was not at all feasible and several more looked questionable.

Several Councilmen voted against granting the franchise at this time, in hopes it would delay the granting of said franchise until after the first meeting in January. The reason behind this was, basically, to have more time to study proposed changes in the ordinance, as submitted by the "Litton boys."

This was not necessary, evidently, because it was agreed that the ordinance can be changed even though a franchise is granted.

Councilman Sefton told the Pine Cone later that there was already enough delay, and if the franchise had not been approved Monday night, the longer it would be before the cable company had a chance to bring better TV to Carmel.

He said that CATV could not begin negotiations before the franchise was granted. Once it was granted and the cable company got approval for erecting their cable on Pacific Telephone poles, it should be 15 months or less before the public will be experiencing better signals and lower rates.

Oliver Exhibit at Museum

Long to be remembered for his contributions to the art world is the late Myron A. Oliver of Carmel... an artist who helped preserve the Spanish heritage of the Peninsula; a former president of the Carmel Art Association, and a man dedicated to the principles and ideals of Carmel.

On display at the Carmel Museum of Art (the old Wells Fargo building) are 20 of his works in oil, watercolor and sepia ranging from his earliest student days to maturity. The most recent on exhibit is the painting he created of Yosemite in 1926, which, by the way, was his last.

Oliver was born in 1891 and moved with his parents from Kansas to Monterey where his family operated the first art store on the Peninsula. As a young man he studied art under Armin Hansen, Clark Hobert, William H. Chase and Frank Dummond.

After painting his last oil in 1926, Oliver turned his attentions to unique framing, cabinet making and wrought iron fixtures. He passed away in 1967.

Dec. 21, 1967

The Carmel Pine Cone-Cymbal 5

"Home Port" by Gerald Wasserman was painted in soft colors which enhance this likeness of a Mediterranean scene.

"Windmills of Portugal" is an impressive and appealing landscape by Mabel Landaker.

Old California Christmas Dinner

The first California food was known as "las comidas California de antes," a pungent mixture of old Aztec with a Spanish flavor. But we are going back to the pure Spanish background before it was influenced by Mexico's more peppery fare. As Californians know, the celebration of Christmas in today's Spain is linked to ancient customs and traditions. Blending the religious spirit with the delights of the table, this colorful season starts with the preparation of a huge bonfire a week before Christmas. Markets hum with anticipation for the tempting festive dishes even as ours do here. Let's duplicate a Spanish holiday menu with an elegant version of a chicken skillet dish, artichokes with a special touch and a unique tart of fruit and wine. Buen apetito y felices pascuas!

Amontillado Sherry

Toasted Almonds

Pollo Castellano

(Castilian Chicken)

Alcachofas Granadina

(Granada Artichokes)

Torta Espanola

(Spanish Tart)

Pollo Castellano

One (3-lb.) broiler-fryer, cut up; 1½ t. salt; ½ t. ground black pepper; 6 T. flour; ¼ cup olive oil; 2 medium onions, sliced; 1 (3½-oz.) can chicken broth; ¼ cup dry sherry; 1 bay leaf; 2 hard-cooked eggs; 1 garlic clove, minced; 12 whole blanched almonds, finely chopped; 2 T. chopped parsley; 1 (2-oz.) jar pimiento slices.

Rub chicken with 1 t. salt and ¼ t. pepper; then coat with ¼ cup flour. In large skillet, heat olive oil and brown chicken pieces on all sides; remove. Add onions to skillet and brown lightly. Return chicken to skillet with onions; add broth, sherry and bay leaf. Simmer, covered, 40 minutes or until chicken is fork tender. Remove bay leaf; cut egg whites into strips and set aside. Mash yolks; add garlic, 2 T. flour and almonds. Add some gravy from skillet and stir to form a paste. When chicken is done, remove to hot platter (kept warm on electric table server). Stir egg yolk mixture into gravy in skillet. Add ½ t. salt and ¼ t. pepper. Simmer briefly and pour over chicken. Garnish with egg white strips, parsley and pimiento. This amount serves four and we suggest making two "batches" for six.

Alcachofas Granadina

Two T. olive oil; 1 medium onion, chopped; 2 carrots, coarsely grated; 1 T. flour; 1 t. salt; ¼ t. crushed rosemary leaves; speck ground black pepper; 1 cup fresh or canned chicken broth; 2 (9-oz.) paks frozen artichoke hearts, thawed; 2 t. lemon juice; paprika.

In saucepan, heat oil and saute onions and carrots until tender. Stir in next 5 ingredients. Bring to a boil, then add artichokes and simmer, covered, 10 min. Add lemon juice. Serves six.

Torta Espanola

One and a half cups vanilla wafer crumbs; ¼ cup butter, melted; ½ cup granulated sugar; 4 eggs, separated; 2 T. lemon juice; 1 t. grated lemon rind; 2/3 cup sweet white wine; 1 cup halved green and red grapes.

Prepare and bake crust as directed on package. Combine remaining sugar, egg yolks and next 3 items in top of double boiler. Cook over simmering water; stir until thickened, then cool. Beat egg whites until stiff, then fold into egg yolk mixture. Turn into crumb crust. Bake in preheated 375° oven until golden. Cool on rack. Garnish with grapes in outer edge circle (see picture). Refrigerate until ready to serve. Serves 6-8.

After so much cooking at Thanksgiving, this fiesta is a breeze to prepare and a welcome respite from too much food.

The first game laws passed during colonial days were to protect deer.

CARMEL TRAVELERS

Three Weeks On a Yugoslav Freighter

By Lois and Earl Moser

When our friends in Carmel learned that we would travel from New York to Rijeka on a Yugoslav freighter, their faces expressed concern and they raised a number of questions.

Will you like the food? Will the cabins be comfortable? How will you communicate? What will the other passengers be like? How will you spend your time during the three weeks?

We were not concerned by their doubts for we had travelled on freighters before—Norwegian, Swedish and American. Furthermore we spent six weeks in Yugoslavia four and one-half years ago and from that experience had no fear of being uncomfortable.

Pier No. 1, Erie Basin, South Brooklyn, on August 11, displayed the usual activities during the loading of the "Kranjcevic." There were hundreds of cartons of frozen chicken and turkey breasts, huge packages of sheet metal, machinery, bales of waste paper, cartons of cigarettes, bags of peanuts—these were but a few of the items labelled Tangiers, Genoa, Naples, Ancona, Venice, Rijeka.

Finally hatches were battened, booms fastened, and, aided by the nudging of two powerful tugs, our 7800-ton, 500-foot-long, 1966-built freighter, was nosed out of the basin.

It was dark. We waved goodbye to the flood-lit Statue of Liberty who waved back with the beacon held high above her head. We passed under the most recent of the great suspension bridges, the one connecting Staten and Long Islands, dropped our pilot and felt the swell of the open Atlantic.

Life aboard any ship quickly settles into a fixed routine. The determining points for all activities are the meals. Breakfast at 7:30, lunch (our biggest meal) at 12, dinner at 6. Our food is good—well cooked and tasty. We have fresh fruit, salads, tea or coffee, meat and vegetable. We tend to eat too much.

Our cabin is equal to first class on a passenger ship. Two beds, two comfortable chairs, a settee, a dresser, a desk, lots of closet space and our own bathroom makes the cabin a complete living unit in itself. We do our writing there and our reading in the cabin, on deck or in the lounge. Our air conditioning can be turned up or down.

The lounge, or bar, as the steward calls it, has television, radio and record player. In the evenings we sometimes play dominoes or cribbage there. It is well that we have brought our own reading material for there is no library aboard.

Exercise? We have the run of the ship but our favorite area is the 100-yard outside passage which runs completely around our passenger deck. Eighteen times around is one mile. We do at least two miles each day and often more. Sun bathing on the aft upper deck is making us as brown as Indians.

Communication? The Captain's English is excellent and he always has time to answer our questions and to tell us about the problems of a Yugoslav shipping company. The First Officer and Chief Engineer also speak good English. Other officers and members of the crew are anxious to improve their knowledge of our language. We learn a few basic words of Serbo-Croatian such as "please," "thank you," "good morning" and "good day." We even make our few wants known to the cabin boy, whose English vocabulary possibly includes a dozen words. Rather than posing a problem, communication adds interest to daily routine.

Passengers? A New York City doctor traveling with two sisters; a young lady school teacher from Holland who has been teaching for 3 years in St. Paul; two young Americans—a lad of 19 and a girl of 25 visiting Europe on a shoestring; an Italian artist, returning home with his bride; a Yugoslav lady school teacher with her niece aged 14; a Yugoslav secretary, also a university graduate, returning home after several months in the U.S.; a Serbian lady who has been visiting her son in Brooklyn; a Buffalo, New York beauty shop owner, returning to her girlhood home for a visit. The Captain's wife and 14-year-old daughter are making their yearly trip abroad.

We are a varied group and each contributes something of interest. Each chooses his or her method of entertainment, mixing with activities only as much as we choose. Our gayest affair was the Captain's dinner for the passengers. Before the champagne was served we discovered that individuals in our small group were proficient in six languages.

We started losing passengers at Tangiers but picked up others for Genoa. The Dutch girl left at Genoa and the Italian artist and wife at Naples. The remaining passengers will continue to Rijeka.

One of the advantages of freighter travel is the opportunity to visit at ports of call. We had almost a day in Tangiers. Three days in Genoa gave us the opportunity to rent a car and travel to Portofino for an overnight stay in that picturesque place. Two days in Naples provided opportunity to travel to Capri and Pompeii. At Ancona, a prosperous looking seaport, we engaged in interesting exploration. A day and a half in Venice gave opportunity to shop and renew acquaintance with St. Mark's Square and its thousands of pigeons.

Twenty days after sailing from New York, we dock at Rijeka where Avis has our little red Volkswagens waiting at the pier. Off we go, south along the historic and rugged Dalmatian coast, leaving fond memories of an excellent ocean voyage.

WHAT'S DOING?

This year, with new lower Long Distance interstate rates in effect, we expect the number of calls on Christmas Day to be greater than ever. And in spite of having every available Operator on duty and every circuit in operation, some calls may be delayed. So to make sure your out-of-state calls go through faster, easier and with less delay, I've prepared this list of suggestions:

- Know the Area Code and number ahead of time and dial the call yourself.
- Call in the afternoon when the calling load is lighter.
- If you should get a busy signal, try again later.
- Low rates will be in effect from 7:00 PM Friday, December 22nd, 'til 7:00 AM Tuesday, December 26th. So now you can take advantage of low rates anytime during the Christmas weekend.
- LATE NIGHT rates now make it possible for greater savings. Any night, from midnight to 7:00 AM, you can dial direct station-to-station anywhere outside of California in the continental United States (except Alaska) for a maximum of 75¢ for the first three minutes.
- The new rates and times apply both Christmas and New Year weekends.

Did you know that your telephone has a built-in "parking space" for its receiver? It's neatly concealed in your phone's overall design. So the next time you have to put the phone down in the middle of your conversation, we suggest placing the receiver in the spaces shown here. You'll find you save the spring in the cord, the finish on the furniture, and the ears of the listener.

May I take this opportunity to wish you and your family a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year and hope the new year will be especially prosperous and rewarding for you. Serving you this year has been our pleasure, and you can be sure that during 1968 we're going to continue our efforts to bring you the best possible telephone service.

From A Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Let's go all silly and light-headed and talk about nothing but fiction this time. 'Tis the season to be jolly.

Today's first book began with a question asked by President Roosevelt. It was "How can a man disappear with five million dollars in any negotiable form and not be traced? For years I have tried to answer that problem. In every method suggested I have been able to find a flaw." Fulton Oursler accepted the challenge and induced five well-known writers to help. Each one wrote a chapter, and then turned over his manuscript to the next writer. Erle Stanley Gardner finished it, with the help of Perry Mason and Paul Drake. The title of the book is THE PRESIDENT'S MYSTERY PLOT. This is something of a literary curiosity.

In 1950 Ray Bradbury wrote FAHRENHEIT 451, and the book has recently been re-issued. The title refers to the temperature at which book paper burns. It is a novel about censorship and book-burning in a totalitarian regime. In times like these, when self-appointed censors abound, the publishers thought it might be well to re-issue the book. Ray Bradbury writes with sensitivity and good taste.

We have a new western novel by Will Henry, the title of which is ONE MORE RIVER TO CROSS. The hero is a negro cowboy, an ex-slave, who labors to win real freedom in the west. What with all the westerns on television, this librarian has developed delightful agility in avoiding all things western. So this one is all yours, and you're welcome.

I'LL STORM HELL is the latest novel by Noel Gerson, and if you think the title is a bit too some-such, let me tell you that it is a biographical novel about "Mad Anthony" Wayne, one of the most courageous soldiers in the Revolutionary War. The book follows him from the time he was a teen-ager until his death as a middle-aged man in 1796.

Lilian Braun has two Siamese cats and THE CAT WHO ATE DANISH MODERN is her second mystery novel in which the cat Koko plays a vital role. Koko belonged to a newspaperman named Quilleran, or perhaps it was the other way around. Anyway, Quilleran began a series of articles on various phases of interior decoration. Every time he mentioned certain collections or famous pieces, the collection or the pieces were stolen. It was Koko who helped solve the mysteries. Anyone who has looked into the wise and watchful face of a Siamese will believe this, even before reading the book. That Koko is really great.

Remember Rollison, called the Toff, who is part of the London police force? John Creasy has a new one about Rollison, this one entitled THE TOFF GOES TO MARKET. Once you have met the Toff, you will want to read all the books about him, working backward from this one. He's a real one, you know, that Toff!

May we take this remaining bit of space to wish all of you from all of the library staff, the happiest kind of a Christmas, and the merriest New Year of your entire lives? Bless you all!
Ruth Galvin Thornburg,
Chief Librarian.

NEW PINE CONE COLUMN

Jewel White, astrologer, real estate saleswoman and clubwoman is a new Carmelite who will contribute articles on astrology to be read on the pages of our Pine Cone. She comes from Sacramento where she did a daily astrology show called "Follow Your Lucky Stars" on Station KJML. Before that on Station KELK, Elko, Nevada and Station WKY-TV, Oklahoma City.

Asked if she will do her show locally, she says, "perhaps, soon." She has been so busy remodeling her house on Lincoln, and traveling that her conscience won't let her start something that she is too busy to keep up.

Astrology is a finely defined science, and requires time to chart daily. She also includes numerology in this classification. In her weekly articles she will show everyone's daily horoscope and lucky number for that day, and the coming week. She will also interview a few of our local celebrities and cast a "scope" on each.

She has made a real show-place of her Lincoln Street house, which boasts two new room additions and the only wall-to-wall porch carpeting in the Village. The Surprise Pink color has attracted many who have come to see it first-hand and ask if the rain will hurt it.

Jewel has joined the CVGM (Rock Hounds) and Welcome Wagon clubs. She has owned a small shack in the deserted Nevada mining town of Manhattan for about 10 years and expects to invite some of her new rock-hound friends to come up for a "hunt." The Welcome Wagon is very dear to her heart. She went out of office as President of the Sacramento chapter in May, 1966 and was responsible for that group taking Kodiak, Alaska as their "Sister City" when they suffered the earthquake and tidal wave. Last year they helped the Assiniboine-Sioux tribe, who live in the northeastern part of Montana. Jewel visited that tribe and was shocked at the primitive way they live. She was taken into the tribe and named "Princess White Feather."

She is also a member of the Women's Forum and the En Chanza Clubs of Sacramento. Her "hobby" is bridge and she loves Carmel the friendly natives and the beautiful weather.

Jewel White, Astrologer

REPORT FROM RLS

High Grades Make Merry Christmas

The Honor Roll for the second grading period had the highest number of students in the 90.0 or above range in school history. The report, just received before the students left for the holidays, was indeed a "Christmas present" for the 104 boys so honored.

Faculty honors, with grades ranging from 95.0 to 100 found boys 27 boys making this coveted achievement. The first five scholars were Robert Howard, Arlen Chase, Tim Talbot, John Enders and William L. Smith Jr. Howard, a top debater, has led the grading at 100 for the entire year, and is an accomplished musician, helping Mr. Peterson at the organ for many musical services. Chase, always in the top two or three, is a debater, while Tim Talbot, a fine track prospect for next year, is following in the footsteps of his brother, Terry, with top grades. John Enders is active in JV water polo where he was a stand-out this year. Keeping the tradition of scholar-leaders, Claude Wynn, student body president, had a 94.0 average. Thirty-nine boys just missed the honor roll by 2.9 points or less.

All in all, it was indeed a merry Christmas for the boys and their families, and for these boys at least, it was only topped by the beautiful Christmas ceremony held in the Chapel last Thursday.

Realtors Hear Address on Property Taxes

At the monthly meeting of the Carmel Board of Realtors at the Carmel Valley Country Club, over 25 members heard H. C. Arnot's address on behalf of the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association.

Mr. Arnot stated that "the state budget is now greater than that of all but 12 nations in the world." He went on to say that as of June 30th, $100,000,000 was delinquent on last year's property tax payments and the rate of delinquency is growing every year. "This is one of the symptoms that something is wrong."

He said that the National government is trying to solve the problems of the local governments, and the local governments are trying to solve the problems of the national governments. "Possibly, as individuals, we try to cover too much territory." Arnot warned that "the tax per capita is going to continue to go up."

"There is more justified grumbling about the property tax than all other taxes combined," Arnot mentioned, "and it is largely because no one knows just what to expect next." Continuing, Arnot said, "People do not complain about paying their share of current tax burdens, but rightfully expect they be equitably related either to income, purchasing power, or services from which they are directly benefitted."

"Only active participation by the entire community can motivate a program recommending fundamental changes in the property tax, and for this purpose we are sponsoring in Monterey County — CITIZENS FOR PROPERTY TAX REFORM."

The speaker said that the Monterey Peninsula Taxpayers Association "welcomes your counsel, advice and support."

Carmel Kiwanis Hears Moving Address

"Take on a project and then raise the money — it is the American way."

This was the theme of Steve Magyar's remarks at the annual Carmel Kiwanis Club on December 16 at Highlands Inn.

"Don't be content because you have money in the bank. It doesn't do any good unless it is being used, to make the world a better place, to stimulate youth who wouldn't otherwise be stimulated, or to give youth a chance who otherwise wouldn't have a chance," said former Monterey Club President Magyar.

Reminiscing on projects of his own club, Magyar recalled a midnight phone call which resulted in an all out and successful effort to found Monterey Peninsula College and an interesting sequence of events which resulted in the construction of the Tawes Memorial Pool at Dennis the Menace Park.

A Christmas Fund Drive is currently underway for Walter Wiese, a Carmel boy, who lost a limb while fighting for his country in Viet Nam. Walter will be flown home for Christmas. To show him their appreciation and recognition for his gallantry, his friends have established the "Walter Wiese Christmas Fund" at the Bank of America, P.O. Box 300, Carmel. Contributions may be made at the above address.

Carmel attorney Thomas K. Perry snapped this picture of the Queen Mary during his trip abroad on her last voyage. Of seven stops made by the Queen en route from England to California, there were only two occasions when she was able to dock. One docking was at Balboa adjacent to Panama City. This picture was taken at Las Palmas in the Canary Islands. In all other instances the harbor waters were not deep enough necessitating anchoring. The passengers went ashore in a lighter.

"How to be a Santa Claus"

Among the attractive models for the Lyceum of the Monterey Peninsula Fashion show last weekend were Mrs. Loran A. List, Jr. who wore a white wool, double-breasted coat from Kramers, during the "How to be a Santa Claus" benefit.

Mrs. James C. Glaser, Jr. was coordinator of the show held at the Pine Inn, and Mr. Lewis Fenton, husband of the Lyceum president, was its witty commentator. Dinner for 125 dinner guests was held in the Red Parlor. Cmdr. L. R. "Buck" Bemis is public relations chairman. Other local models were Mrs. Stoddard Johnston, Mrs. Darius Keaton, Jr., Mrs. Sigurd A. Liseth, Mrs. Francis Lloyd, Mrs. Blair McDonald, Mrs. Jack Stein, Jr., Mrs. Barbara Tripp and Miss Debbi Smith, whose mother has Lilli's, another of the shops shown.

A natural French rabbit parka from Furs-by-the-Sea was modeled by Sherrie Gomez, Mrs. Glaser's niece, down from San Francisco.

The Lyceum, a volunteer organization, is devoted to exposing gifted children to talented people on the Peninsula, and arranging enriching programs for them.

Tips for Men

Perfume Buyers

By Charles M. Strosnider

It is well known in the cosmetic industry that men buy over 80 per cent of the perfumes sold in America. Here are a few tips for men planning to buy perfume for their femme d'amour whether she be wife, sweetheart, mother or secretary.

Generally, young girls up into their later teens should wear colognes, with occasional perfume of the light floral type. Elderly women also come in the same category with accent on rose, violet, lilac, lily of the valley.

Wives with myriad duties and child raising can be stimulated into making themselves alluring for the evening return of their husbands by unexpected gifts of perfume. And don't forget the luxurious feeling she will get from bath oils, scented soaps and powders. A husband can make himself king with such gifts.

Now what perfume should a man buy for his lady fair? For a start, if a boss is buying for his feminine office staff, colognes are recommended. Perfumes are generally too heavy for an office and may be offensive or misleading to clients.

It is difficult to set strict rules, however you may start with the thought that blonds should wear light florals, spicy, and if she has brown eyes, occasionally exotic perfumes. Redheads should wear heavier florals, spicy and light exotics. Brunettes tend more to heavy florals and exotics.

Vocational Technical Education Program

A progress report on the development of a Peninsula-wide Vocational-Technical Education Program was given the Carmel School Board by Superintendent Dr. Harris L. Taylor last week.

He defined its objective as training young people for employment.

He broke down the program into five phases: 1. Each school should offer first-level courses such as basic courses in bookkeeping, commercial law, merchandising, and fire science, on the local campus; 2. Two or more schools should make a joint venture of such expensive equipment as electronics; 3. Each school should tap into the Monterey Peninsula College accelerated program available by law, for

Some of you have called to ask if EXCHANGING is all we do. No, we provide a diversified real estate service—including sales.

Many people need professional Investment Counseling and Estate Planning, and through our extensive training and experience, we can help you. These activities are a basic and essential phase of exchanging.

Do you know a good real estate investment when you see it? Are you using the right depreciation schedule to obtain full tax reductions? Do you need more cash-flow now, or have you programmed it for later when the children are in college?

YOUR equity return can be expanded without extra cash outlay. There is so much information we have to pass on to you, that you should know we would have to become partners with the PINE CONE to print it all. It will take an appointment or two for some quiet conversation and counselling to present the facts. A call is best, but if you are out of town—write to arrange an appointment for a time when you are here.

CHRISTMAS IN CARMEL

Go out in the woods and gather
The pine-boughs and the cones—
Pile them on the hearth together,
Strike the quick flame!
Ignite the sweet resinous needles—
Hear the crackle and flare
As the spirit leaps forth from the tree
The bright imprisoned shining one
Now soaring resplendent and free.
See the lights of her joy reflected
On tinsel and toy and chair;
Let the night-wind move in the weeds
And the dark waves crash on the shore!
For the smell of the boughs is Christmas
And the song and the sparkle of mirth;
And peace is the branch of a heavenly tree
Brushing the roofs of earth.

—D. H.

CHRISTMAS

The hills took hands and stood around the rising sun
And holy, holy, holy was the song;
and from the earth
The sorrows and the grief
Were gathered up in some strange harmony
Heard in the listening wonder of the sky.
No need was there for words—
No need for sound or voice.
The silence was the rainbow over all—
The wondrous tone where wrong is turned to right,
Song of the world through avenues of light.

—DORA HAGEMEYER 1967

AT CHRISTMAS

The gift of love is quickly grasped
And truant hearts imbued with good.
The outstretched hand is gladly clasped
And the birth of Christ is understood.

—JAYNE GIAMMARINO

ONE CHRISTMAS EVE

That was the night the stars came down
Almost to touching-height!
So low they leaned above the field
The great boughs swept the night.

Such millions crowding down so close!
Great orbs of glowing white...
The little path among the weeds
Lay like a thread of light.

I raised my arms to reach above,
Yet stood irresolute—
Even at Christmas who would dare,
For all the love and song and prayer,
To pluck such shining fruit?

—DORA HAGEMEYER.

Editor's note: Dora Hagemeyer was for over twenty years, Poetry Editor of the Pine Cone. There have been many requests for her to revive "Pegasus Wings." May we hear from readers on this?

Angels of the cover were created by Doris Pritchard for "Christmas Creations," the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art benefit. They were purchased by Del Monte Lodge. The photograph was by Marie Van Auken.

At the Christmas Lighting program of the City of Carmel Friday evening in the Carmel Plaza, the president of the Carmel Business Association announced the winners of the Christmas Expressions contest. First place went to Ruth Buol Hand-crafted Enamels, Del Dono Court (upper left); Second prize was awarded Castle-in-Carmel on Dolores (right) and the third prize went to Hansel and Gretel, 6th and Dolores (lower left). Honorable mentions went to N. B. Flower Shop, and Ocean Avenue Realty.

Market Commentary

Dow Theory and Stock Market Forecasts letter of December 15 states: "Much of the bearishness that was generated by the October decline has disappeared but, in our opinion, now is the time to start using extra caution. More near term rally is expected but before becoming committed to a booming Spring, we would like to see how the averages act after the first of the year. Continue to protect your portfolio with a 25 per cent reserve."

Tree Give-Aways

Monterey pine and redwood seedlings will be given away at the Carmel Post Office parking lot tomorrow.

This traditional "give-away" is for the purpose of replacing those trees which have had to come down for one reason or another. Those trees which will be left over from the public giveaway will be donated to the City for planting.

Vocational

(Continued from Page C) talented vocational students; 4. There should be joint ventures at the junior college and high schools by which work experience programs are correlated with academic courses in English, math, etc.; 5. Each school should develop strong vocational counselling to go along with the program. There should be in-service training for counselling staff.

WEATHER

More normal December temperatures with highs in the 50s and lows in the 40s. 60% probability of rainless days.

EARTHQUAKE ROCKS CARMEL

The recent earthquake felt in Carmel which frightened many people, reminded Earl Glennon, a fourth generation San Franciscan, of the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 which happened when he was a boy of nine.

They cooked all of their meals out of doors for about six months, because the chimneys in the houses would sometimes come tumbling down. They "used to inhale their dinner going home." His job was to stand in line for food which was distributed under martial law. When he got almost to the front of the two or three block line, "my dad would take my place."

When he came to Carmel, years ago, 62 of the survivors used to meet for a 5 o'clock breakfast at La Playa Hotel every April 18, the anniversary of the event. They still do, but at the last meeting, the group had dwindled to 21.

According to the police report, Sakamoto, a Del Monte Properties gate guard, stopped at the stop sign before proceeding across Dolores. Mrs. Donaldson, going north on Dolores, said she didn't see the other car until just before impact. Her speed was 25 mph.

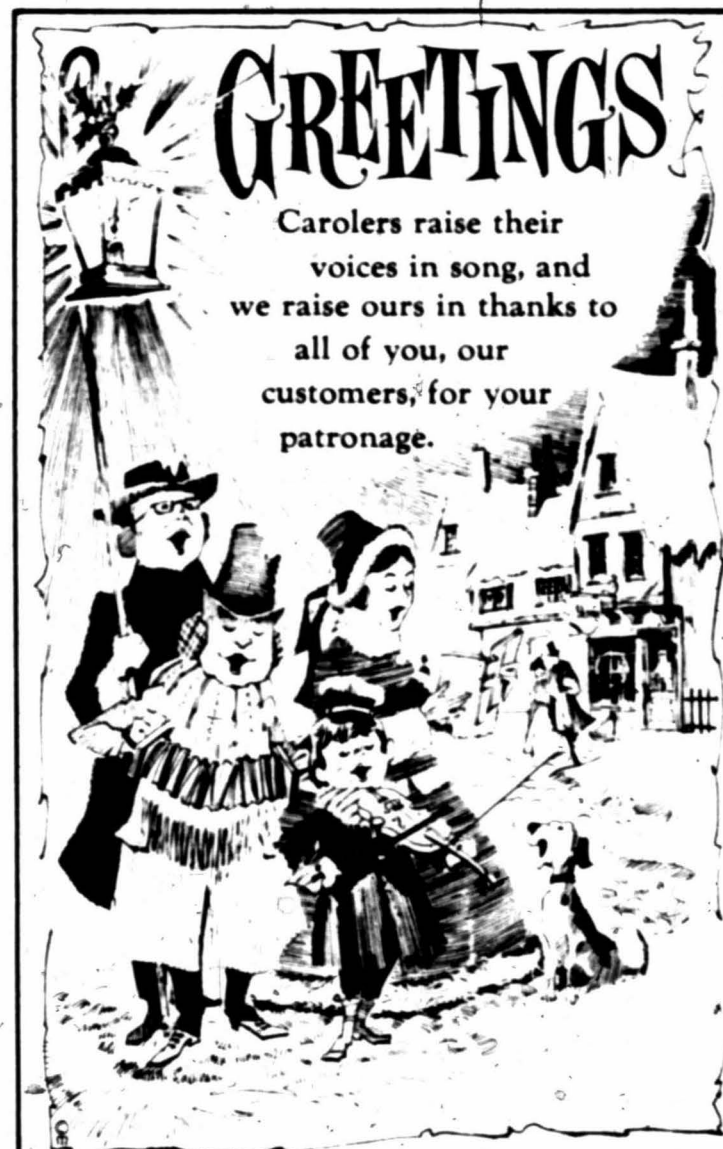

The extent of the injuries is not known.

SNOW

The first snow of the year has come to the Peninsula that is for parts which are 1600 feet above sea level.

Snow has covered most of the peaks above this level, and as one mounts Carmel Hill he can get a panoramic view of snow-capped mountains. Topping this view, is one which can be enjoyed while crossing the Las Laureles grade.

If the present weather conditions prevail this weekend, it would be worth a Sunday Christmas Eve, drive across the mountains.
